

The Midnight Break-in

By Gabo

The secret princess of Japan was in her hideout looking at pictures of the superheroes. She said “Hugh, those pesty superheroes always win! Ahaa! I can take the crystal of dragons.” She waited until midnight.

The superheroes were in their hideout, putting their kids to bed. They also went to bed.

The princess said, “You can’t keep me out of your house with security”. She saw the security lasers. She found a pattern, and said” step, dodge, step, dodge, jump, roll”. She got inside of the house and there was an invisible security laser. She had a special goggle that let her see the invisible laser. She said “No! I can’t grab the crystal of dragon now.” She wrapped it up in the superhero’s toilet paper. Then she ran out of the house, and she was so fast that her special goggle fell off. She ran into the invisible laser.

The superheroes said, “Aha! We thought there would be a break in from you!”. She unwrapped the crystal of dragon from the toilet paper.

The superheroes used their capes and daggers to fight the dragon. It did not work on the dragon. They used their capes, swords, daggers and guns and cannons to fight the dragon. Henry said “Wait! Why are we calling it a dragon? Let’s call it a princess dragon.” And after Henry said that they used their weapons against the dragon. It worked! They got a 100 trophies and medals.

The End

Gabo, The Author

July , 2021