Previously on monsters' creatures and beyond, the superheroes went into the haunted temple and Fred turned into a ghost, and the tour guide lady was bad.

Let's get on to the story

Henry came up to Fred and said, "let's get up to the deck to train", Fred said, "no, I'm not up for it".

Henry said, "Come on, you we can do it!".

So, they started training. A bad girl, the tour guide lady, jumped onto the deck. She said, "Maybe you think you can't get turned back into a human, but there is a special scroll that can turn you back into a human. Fred said, "What scroll!?, Give me the scroll!", she said "No!", and she started fighting them. Fred won the battle and got the scroll. He said, "Wait, there is a map going into a tomb that has a crystal that can turn me back!".

So they went into the tomb, but it was a trap, the Secret Princess of Japan was carving with a knife to make them think that the crystal was there. They went in, and said, "Let's get the crystal and get out of here before there are any geysers that can get us". Fred said, "I will just cover it with a big rock". Henry said, "No, don't do it!! Now that you covered it with the rock it is going to build up pressure and make every single geyser blow! There is boiling hot pressure that will blow up this place!".

They ran into an old mine cart. They started going and almost landed in the boiling hot water and were falling, then Rex the flying aircraft saved them. They grabbed on and said “It was a trap by the Secret Princess of Japan. The real tomb is not here, it’s under the ocean”.
